THE HIGH POINT PEOPLE.

What They are Doing and Saying—Postoffice Improvement.

Correspondence of the Telegram.

Assistant Postmaster A. F. Eshelman has just informed us that the High Point postoffice has been made an international money order office, to go into effect at the beginning of the next official quarter, April 2nd 1900.

By this arrangement money orders can be made payable to almost any foreign country on the globe. The business of the postoffice has greatly increased within the last year.

With sorrow all of his friends learn of the death of John Wesley, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Slaughter, recently, of this city, which occurred at Lynchburg, where he was visiting relatives. His remains were carried to Danville, Va., and interred there yesterday.

At the urgent request of the people of Randleman Mr. Aycock stopped off there yesterday and made them a talk.

R. T. Pickens, of Lexington, was among the crowd here yesterday.

Mr. Robinson of Wilmington, was here last night.

Work on the fill for the new side track is progressing rapidly.

I hope to make arrangements in a few days to have the Telegram delivered at the home of every subscriber here every evening immediately after the arrival of the southbound train. Give me your name and the small amount charged for the paper, I'll do the rest.

The democrats of High Point are for Aycock as the next governor of North Carolina.

For the information of some people who have not learned I will state that Joe Jackson—"our Joe"—is again in the hands of the law, this time at Cary, N. C. The nature of his "mischief" is not known here. Joe is a "slick duck"—at least he seems tor slick to be held for any length of time However he may be in for it this time.

A. R. Rudisill, of King's Mountain, was here last evening.

Victor Humphries, of Lexington, was here yesterday.

W. N. Rush, of Jamestown, spent awhile in town yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Burton, who has been unwell for several days, is improving.

Messrs. W. H. Watkins, Jr., and D. A. Hodgin, of Greensboro, were guest of this city yesterday.

Dr. L. J. Bodenheimer, is "on the mend" and hopes to be out in a few days.

G. Sam Bradshaw, of Greensboro, was here last evening enroute home from Asheboro.

Several of our citizens heard Hon. C. B. Aycock at Asheboro yesterday.

GREAT WEEK AT RICHMOND.

A Free Street Fair and Carnival to be Given Next May.

Elaborate preparations are being made at Richmond, Va., for a free streets fair and carnival, which will last all the week beginning May 14th, 1900. The exposition is to be held on Broad street, now the principal retail business thoroughfare of the capital city of the Old Dominion. Broad street is one of the widest and finest avenues to be found in any city in the country. It excites the admiration of each of the thousands of tourists that visit that city, so rich in historic interest, annually.

A street fair, as many already know, is just what its name implies—a display in booths erected along the best adapted thoroughfare in a city for the exhibition of the products of the factories and the best of substantials and fineries to be found in both the wholesale and retail business houses

But this is not all. There is plenty to amuse. The very best of modern attractions will be at the Richmond Free Street Fair, and there will be plenty of music—in fact bands will be playing from Monday morning until Saturday night. No expense is being spared to obtain everything that will delight and amuse.

At this early day it is impossible to enumerate the vast number of attractions to be seen at Richmond during Carnival week. It may be said, however, that the parade committee has prepared for a reproduction of the Mardi Gras pageant, which will be on a more elaborate scale than that in February at New Orleans.

Hundreds, it is confidently expected, will attend Richmond's exposition from this section. There will be adequate hotel and boarding house accommodations, and the rate will be reasonable. No one need fear of Richmond's inability to entertain all. This was demonstrated when the Confederate reunion was there a few years ago. On several days on that occasion more than one hundred thousand visitors were within the gates of the city.

There will be special excursion rates of course.

SURGEONS ORDERED TO MANILA.

In Response to Otis' Call Seventeen Assistants are Ordered out.

Washington, March 21—The appeal of General Otis for more surgeons in the Philippines is being responded to by the war department as rapidly as possible. Seventeen acting assistant surgeons were ordered from this country to Manila today. The sending of this number of surgeons on steamer leads to the belief that the requisition o' Otis is a continuing one, and that medical men will be sent until Otis says quit.

When you start to buy carpets, mattings, art squares or rugs it will pay you to take a look through our line. Thacker & Brockmann.

THE PRESIDENTS' BIG TALK.

KRUGER AND STEYN TRY TO BLOW MORE FIGHT INTO BURGHERS.

Steyn Says that There Have Been Less than 1,000 Killed and that Fighting is Just Beginning.

Pretoria, March 21—A dispatch from Kroonstadt dated the 18th says that the Pretoria commanders there are in grand spirits. They are ready for the enemy, and are even defiantly awaiting the British advance. Kruger and Steyn addressed a vast camp meeting today. Kruger passionately appealed to the burghers to maintain their gallant fight for freedom. He told them that the certain ultimate result of the war would be that the Boer republics would retain their independence despite temporary British occupation of Bloemfontein. President Steyn followed in a strong speech and told the burghers that the Free State was far from conquered, because its capital was occupied by the British. He informed the burghers that England had definitely refused to allow the republics to remain independent states. Therefore all the republics had to do was to fight to the last. Steyn said that the Boers had lost less than a thousand killed, and that the war was really just beginning. He warned the burghers not to believe Robert's proclamation nor accept his proposition to lay down their arms. He said Milner had publicly proclamed Africanders would be exterminated, knowing that the republics would fight to the end. The speeches aroused wild enthusiasm.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION.

Proximity Discusses it—The Helpful Work of the Girl's Society.

Proximity Bureau.

Last Saturday night a number of old members and a few new ones met in the school room and reorganized the Proximity Debating Club. The following were elected officers: V. L. Marsh, president; Cicero Smith, vice-president; Alex Beall, secretary; Mr. Simpson, treasurer; J. T. Scurlock, chaplin. The question chosen for debate next Saturday nightis, "Resolved that North Carolina should have compulsory education." This is a live question and one that should interest us all very much. It is to be hoped that the club will be a success and that many up-to-date and important questions will be discussed and that much real and lasting information may be gained in this way.

The Young Ladies' League and Reading Circle, which was organized a short time ago, met last night for the first regular me ting at the home of Miss Carrie Clapp. The exercises consisted in songs, readings and Scriptural texts, reading of papers, etc. The object of the circle is a worthy one, it being the self-improvement in spiritual as well as literary matters, and also to assist the sick and suffering With Miss Carrie Clapp as president, Miss Blanch Eatman, secretary; Miss Julia Boggs, chairman of the charity and help committee, and Miss Nannie Combs to look after the literary work, we may expect success and a great deal of good accomplished.

Cupid is again at work. On Sunday afternoon there were two more hearts made glad by being made one. The happy couple were Mr. Lucian Tadley and Miss Annie Cole. May blessings attend them and may their lives always be as bright and happy as a summer day.

Miss Burnice Combs has been indisposed since Sunday—We are glad to learn that Miss Ada Brim is improving—Mrs. J. J. McDonald still remains in a low condition. She has not improved any in several days.

Mr. Siler and bride from Siler City came here last evening and for the present have rooms at Mrs. Crutchfield's.

W. W. Coleman and wife are stopping for a while in the village.

Will Lambert has been on the sick list several days.

A. A. Crutchfield has returned from Graham—Mrs. John McDonald has gone to visit her mother and will be absent some weeks—C. A. Long is in the county on business.

A JUDGE WITH NERVE.

"You May Continue," He Said to Counsel, After Being Shot At

Paris, March 21—There was an attempt today to murder the presiding judge of the fifth court, palace of justice, by a druggist who had just lost a suit. Judges had just taken seats and the counsel in another case had just begun to make a speech, when the druggist, Bardin, drew a revolver and fired three shots at the judge, the bullet grazing his head. Guards threw themselves upon Bardin and removed him to a cell, while the judge, with perfect coolness, said to the counsel, "you may continue, maitre, it it nothing."

DEATH OF AGED CITIZEN.

Mr. Alexander of Charlotte Dies Suddenly—Family of Mr. Bell Give Up.

Correspondence of The Telegram.

Charlotte, N. C., March 20.—One of the oldest and best known citizens of Charlotte, Mr. Samuel P. Alexander passed away this morning shortly after midnight at his room in the Buford hotel.

Mr. Alexander has been for over 60 years a citizen of Charlotte having been born in the country near here. He was in business in Charlotte as early as 1833. A lifelong deacon of the Presbyterian church and a man always eager to do good work, he was looked up to and honored by all classes. Mr. Alexander was at the time of his death 90 years old. He had never been married. For several years he had been a great sufferer from a chronic trouble, but was out of bed and on the streets only yesterday. He was unconscious when he died, but was surrounded by a number of those who were his friends.

The family of Mr. Sam M. Bell who was reported killed in the West have given up all hope as to the dead man not being their son. Although the accident happened five days ago nothing that would positively identify the remains has been received. The last telegram advises the family to have the body buried in the West on account of the mangled condition of the corpse.

The last object lesson in the way of diversified industries is found in the Charlotte Casket factory. Speaking of his plant last evening a prominent architect of Charlotte mentioned the fact that the wood used in this factory was shipped here from Kentucky. He is a great advocate of diversifying industries in the South and this section, and said that it was by no means necessary to have the raw product at hand to inaugurate new industries. He further mentioned the fact that the furniture factories of the Northwest get most of their material from Mississippi. The idea is a good one for this part of the state to investigate and act upon.

A DEVILISH NEGRO CAUGHT.

He has for Weeks Been Assaulting People in Norfolk.

Norfolk, Va., March 20—The indications are that the negro who has broken into several residences, assaulted and robbed helpless women recently, and well nigh terrorized the town was shot and killed this morning by Policeman Salyer. He is Brooks Ramsey, a deck hand on the Chesapeake & Ohio steamer Louise, who about five o'clock this morning entered the home of Mrs. Virginia Pruitt, an aged dress maker on Charlotte street, and brutally assaulted her with a piece of iron grate. Shortly after fleeing from the house he was arrested by Officer Caffee, from whom he escaped, to run into the arms of Salyer, who, after a desparate struggle, shot Ramsey to avoid being killed by him. In the hip pocket of the negro, to which he had reached before Salyer shot, was found a 38 calibre revolver.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller, who were murderously assaulted in their home on the night of March fourth, identified the shoes the negro had on as having been taken from their house. Miss Cotton, who was subsequently assaulted in her home, identified the rings found in the possession of Ramsey's wife, as the same torn from her fingers, and Mrs. Jones, another aged victim, identified him as the man who attacked her. Several overcoats found in his house have been returned to their owners. He is no doubt the man the police have been looking for.

CLOSED UP IN THE ICE

Thirty Men Imprisoned for Thirty Hours and Nearly Famished.

Cleveland, March 21—The fireboat Cleveland put through a raging snowstorm this morning and reached the fishing tugs Weyland and Burns, which had been imprisoned thirty hours in the ice. The fireboat Warley went out for them yesterday, but was caught in the ice. Thirty men were without food except the contents of the dinner buckets carried by sixteen of the men on the fishing tugs. The men were half famished when aid reached them.

SCANDAL IN THE ARMY

Disclosures on Foot that Will Make a Sensation.

London, March 21—Disclosures of fraudulent contracts in victualing troops promise to make a big sensation before peace is declared. Lowther, one of the strongest tories in the house of commons, has taken the matter in hand. Another phase shows that army officers are as deep in the mud as the contractors, especially in the purchase of coal.

Commission to Assemble Shortly.

Atlanta, March 21—Premier Laurie announces today that the joint high commission will reassemble shortly, he believed in Atlanta. He hoped in a few days to be able to state the positions of the various protocols.

Mrs. Harriet Evans, Hinsdale, Ill., writes: "I never fail to relieve my children of croup at once by using One Minute Cough Cure. I would not feel safe without it." Quickly cures coughs, colds, grippe and all throat and lung diseases." Howard Gardner.

A MULATTO KILLED GOEBEL

Sergeant Golden, the Story Says, Has Divulged the Name of Murderer

Louisville, Ky., March 20—The stories growing out of the conference between Sergeant F. Wharton Golden, of the Barbourville company of state militia, and the attorneys who are managing the investigation of the assassination of Governor Goebel, have caused a sensation throughout the state. Golden will be placed on the stand by the prosecution in the trial of the prisoners already arrested for alleged complicity in the assassination, but the information as to the exact nature of the testimony he is expected to give is lacking. Specials from Winchester say Golden is still at that place in company with his attorney.

"I will do all I can for my friends all the time," Golden is reported as saying, "but I must first be true to myself. When the time comes I will tell all I know. Whatever else can be said about me, I do not think I can be accused of being a liar, a coward or a democrat, and I want it distinctly understood that I am not here under guard."

The story is published that Golden has divulged to the attorneys the name of the man who fired the shots that killed Goebel. The person mentioned is a mulatto who formerly lived at Winchester, was prominent in the French Eversole feud, and is known as a good shot This man is now supposed to be in the wilds of one of the mountain counties. Evidence that he was in Frankfort at the assassination was found among papers taken from W. H. Culton, a clerk in the auditor's office, when the latter was arrested some time ago on a warrant charging him with being an accessory to the crime. Among these papers were receipts for board bills amounting to about $300 incurred by 18 men who who were in Frankfort for some time before, and at the time Governor Goebel was shot. In one of the receipts the name of the mulatto mentioned is given. The receipt in this case is for money received from John Perkins by Bettina Pittman, for the board of three men. Perkins is a porter about the state house.

New York, March 21—Cotton bids for March and April were 43; May 42; June and July 35; August 21; September 8.39.

Steyn Jokes Oom Paul.

London, March 21—It is said that when Kruger left Bloemfontein President Steyn remarked to him: "Mind the British don't catch you or you'll get better quarters at St. Helena than I will."

Elevator Falls.

Chicago, March 21—The elevator of the Blakely Printing Company fell several stories this morning. Thirty persons were injured, some badly, but it is not thought any of them will die. Something snapped and the car dropped three stories.

More Excitement on the Exchange.

New York, March 21—There was great excitement on the stock exchange today. Third Avenue mounted nine and a quarter points in half an hour, reaching a hundred and ten and a half. Tremendous excitement spread from the board to the street, which was crowded with brokers.

Warships for Europe Later.

Portsmouth, Eng., March 21—The mayor today received a dispatch from Secretary Long stating that the arrangements for sending a fleet of American warships abroad was abandoned for the present, but wired that later U. S. warships would undoubtedly be sent to European waters.

Fulfilling His Mission.

Chicago Tribune.

"Have you ever tried, my friend," asked the aged philanthropist, "to grasp the meaning of your existence?"

"Yes, sir," responded Tuffold Knutt, pocketing with visible disgust the ham sandwich that had been handed to him. "I reck'n I was created to show that the man who has the biggest thirst on him alluz has the fewest ways of gratifyin' it."

WHY ALL SHOULD WELCOME IT

Because of its it exact statement of of truth and its suggestiveness on the vital subject before the people of this state now, we print in full, for it is too good to cut, the following editorial from the Charlotte Observer:

The negroes should welcome it because they have gotten no good out of po itics, but have suffered in every way from their participation in it. The white republicans should favor it because the passing of the negro as a voter will relieve their party of a vast deal odium which attaches to it on account of the negro and which will attach to it as long as he forms the greater part of the numerical strength of the party in the state. Every democrat and populist should be its friend for the reason that it offers deliverance from the chief and continuing source of irritation in our politics, and will remove the menace of bad government, which is present at every recurring election. Every citizen should want to see it adopted for the reason, over and above all, that when it is, there will be room in North Carolina, as there has not been since the civil war for freedom of political thought. A man may then be a democrat, a populist or a republican, as he may choose, upon the merits of the issue submitted by these parties, or according to the character of the candidates presented; without laying himself liable to the charge of being in league with the state's enemies if he votes republican, or the charge that he is coerced and runs counter to his convictions if he votes the democratic ticket. The adoption of the amendment will set both white men and negroes free from the domination of party, and we shall all come in to the natural heritage of free men, viz: liberty of opinion and liberty to express it.

This gives reasons why the negro should favor the amendment, and why white republicans, democrats and p pulists, and lastly all citizens, should wish to see it adopted.

1. The Negro. By having his attention turned to politics the negro has worked disaster to his race. It at once drew his mind from the idea of making a living, and taught him instead, as is always the case when the bottom rail gets on top, that he had come into his kingdom and needed to no longer work. Beginning with this idea and finding he could subsist easily without working, he has been growing in worthlessness year by year, till except as laborers of the very lowest grade they are worthless. It is sad to think that a race, which thirty or forty years ago were the best field laborers and domestic servants on earth, are today so degenerated as to be worthless. How many skilled house-servants and competent cooks among the young negroes are there in Greensboro today? The politician and the preacher has been the downfall of the negro, and he should welcome the scheme that looks toward his deliverance from one of them, at least.

2. White republicans. We have somehow felt that, were the hands of the politicians and place hunters taken off the body of the white republicans, those who are such from principle and not for office, they would be as much in favor of the amendment as democrats. We believe that with the negro out of the way, the indications are that the republican party would receive such recruits from the white people of the state as would much increase its strength, if not numerically, in influence and respectability, with large opportunity for growth. It may be that the coterie of republican politicians who now run the party in this state and receive its emoluments do not wish such a party as could doubtless be built up after the negro were out of the way, because of the fact that it would lessen their chances of keeping on the top. Surely the white republican who is not after forage should support the amendment.

3. Populists and democrats. Populists claim that were it not for what they call the "negro scare crow," the democrats would have no issue outside of populisism, and democrats, in turn, charge populists with endangering white supremacy. Certainly both of these should welcome an elimination of the negro.

4. All citizens of the state should want to see it adopted, says the Observer, because it will give room in North Carolina for freedom of political thought, and without attempting to add to this point in the editorial, we may state our belief that it is the everlasting truth.

A WORD FITLY SPOKEN.

There is nothing which North Carolina so badly needs as the passage of the constitutional amendment, but it should be borne in mind that it is for the good of both races, in absolute mercy to the negro, and for the purpose of trying to restore in part the good feeling and kindness that once existed between the races, and not in hatred to the negro or in any desire to do him harm. It is important that our people should keep this in mind. The campaign must necessarily be hot and bitter, but as suggested in the article below, there is a wide difference between the mean-mouthed and impudent negro politician who make themselves insulting, and the inoffence part of the race that are our servants and in many cases love and respect the white race. As a word fitly spoken we copy this from the Biblical Recorder:

We are disposed, therefore, with as much gentleness as possible, to plead here and now that the political leaders will go into the coming campaign with right hearts. One has a right to plead for the disfranchisement of a race that was too suddenly vested with citizenship, but there are arguments in sufficient number and powerful enough, without holding up the negro race to hatred or contumely. We owe them duty—in God's sight, love, if you believe in the Christian religion. There are some negro leaders, especially politicians, who deserve no to be spared; but it is wrong to visit the punishment they deserve upon the whole rank and file So we plead that, no matter what the reader's views may be upon the amendment soon to be voted upon, he will not let political papers with wild words and flaring headlines, or hair-brained stump-speakers hungry for office, carry him into hatred of the negro race.

THE PORTO RICANS' APPEAL.

Monday, 10,000 people, headed by the chamber of commerce of the city, met at the Governor's palace in San Juan, Porto Rico, and prepared a statement for General Davis, requesting him to forward it to the government at Washington. The resolutions embrace eight sections, five of which are devoted to a discription of the uncertainty that exists in all business in the island, caused by the doubtful fate of the pending tariff bill. Two of the sections describe the disastrous effect of this uncertainty, and the eighth and last states the "need of undertakings of a public nature instead of relief supplies, which, altough necessary, tend to make paupers of the working classes."

It is very noticable that the address contains no reference to whether or not they would like to have the tariff, but pleads only for a cessation of the suspense. and it is quite significant that it contains no complaint, no upbraidings, but is a dignified statement of facts concerning the condition of the island. The paper can but command respect and admiration for its moderation, its direct and uncomplaining statement of the deplorable straights which the little country has been through since the outbreak of the Spanish-American war, and the present wreck of business and industry, augmented every day by the stringency of capital which hides itself as a result of the uncertainty of the kind of legislation the United States will give to the country.

The Porto Ricans are by odds the best lot we got in our late series of acquisitions, and yet are the ones we are doing the least for. Our country must be far from proud of its treatment of them. And it should be borne in mind, too, that after the meeting had passed its resolutions there were shouts of "long live the governor general" and "long live the United States."

The Washington Post of yesterday has a cartoon which exactly expresses the predicament in which the republican party now finds itself on the Porto Rico tariff bill. The cartoon represents an old woodsman, labeled the "republican party," on one side of a tree and a bear on the other. The old man has his arms around the tree meeting the bear's paws in a deathlike clinch In this position they are suspended half way up the tree, clearly suggesting the two famous alternatives of holding on or letting go.

THE PORTO RICAN BILL.

A Compromise Measure Agreed Upon In Conference—Bill as Agreed Upon.

Washington, March 20—The conferees on the Porto Rican bill have agreed upon a com romise measure. The senate conferees receded from the senate amendment limiting the appropriation to the revenues collected on Porto Rico importations until the 1st of last January and restored the clause in the house bill, applying to future revenues, reading as follows: "Together with any future customs revenues collected on importations from Porto Rico since January 1, 1900, or that shall hereafter be collected under existing law."

The provision in the senate amendment specifying the purpose for which the money shall be used, is retained, but an addition is made declaring specifically that it shall be for the "aid and relief" of the Porto Ricans. The bill as agreed upon follows:

"That the sum of $2,095,455, being the amouut of customs revenues received on importations from Porto Rico since the evacuation of Porto Rico by the Spanish forces, on the 18th of October, 1898, to the 1st of January, 1900, together with any further customs revenue collected on importations from Porto Rico since the 1st of January, 1900, or that shall hereafter be collected under existing law, shall be placed at the disposal of the president, to be used for the government now existing and which may hereafter be established in Porto Rico and for the aid and relief of the people thereof and for public education, public works and other governmental and public purposes therein until otherwise provided by law, and the revenues herein referred to, already collected, and to be collected, under the existing law, are hereby appointed for the purposes herein specified, out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated."

Compulsory Vaccination Legal.

The supreme court yesterday handed down a decision in the case of the state against Hay, from Alamance, in which it sustains the validity of the ordinance passed by the aldermen of Burlington making vaccination compulsory.

A Difference of Opinion.

The fat man is sure he has paid his fare to the conductor. He is positive on this point, because he had only a nickel, and it has passed from his possession.

The conductor is also positive, with no actual proof therefor, that the fat man has not contributed his mite to swell the coffers of the corporation. He demands the fare.

The fat man for obvious reasons refuses.

He announces in a bleat of rage that he'll see the conductor and the corporation elsewhere before he yields.

The other passengers are wild with joy. They have no particular love for the corporation, they do not know the fat man, and if they met the conductor again they would not look at him. Passengers seldom do. They are loyal Americans.

Behind the fat man's underlying principle there is knowledge of a six mile walk, an angry wife, a cold supper and a neglected euchre party. He announces again that he will see the conductor elsewhere. He does.

He sees the conductor in the street. The fat man is with him.

The fat man's hat is in the gutter, his coat is torn and myriad packages are strewn over the field of battle.

The car and the conductor fade from sight, and the fat man gathers up his bundles for the six-mile walk.

Will he see the corporation for $500,000? He will not. He remembers that he spent the nickel for a Queen of the Backwoods cigar.—Chicago Democrat.

The White House Mail Box.

"An amusing thing that we frequently see at the White House," said one of the attaches there, "is the mailing of letters in the White House letter box by visitors to the city. All visitors to Washington go to the executive mansion, and many of them notice the letter box in the vestibule just before entering the east room. Some of them decide to mail letters there, believing that these letters will contain the stamp of the White House. Of course it would be a great thing for a distant relative to receive a letter postmarked at the White House.

"The other day an intelligent looking woman, accompanied by several grown daughters, asked me to lend her a pencil. I heard her say, 'Won't it be lovely to mail them a letter from here and let them see that we've been to the president's home?' She proceeded to write for some time, secured an envelope, addressed it and then proudly dropped the epistle in our letter box. She went off with a radiant face. She was sure that all her neighbors and friends for miles around would hear of that letter mailed from the White House, and she would be besieged with inquiries on her return. She'll learn her mistake. The letter box here does not differ in any way from those on the streets."—Washington Star.

Made It a Burlesque.

Franklin Fyles recalls some amusing first night experiences in his article on "The Theater and Its People" in The Ladies' Home Journal. One he relates is of Laura Don, now dead: "She had the role of an Egyptian princess in 'Fresh, the American.' It was intended that she should be seriously and sentimentally impressive, while the late John T. Raymond, the star of the company, should be contrastingly comical as the lover. But the audience would not have it so. Nor was it anything in Miss Don's appearance, for she was beautiful, nor in her acting, for it was clever, that made the people laugh. It came of a miscalculation by the author. The quick witted woman, seeing that she could not control the audience, resolved to humor it. By an exaggeration of speech and manner she turned the part into burlesque, and it was always after acted in that way."

Mr. Fyles also tells that "in 'Cleopatra,' as produced by the late Fanny Davenport, a general should have given to his queen an impetuous account of a battle which he had won. But she stood wordless, silent, stuck fast. 'You have come to tell me,' Miss Davenport said and then went on with the narrative which he should have spoken."

The Iceland Dinner.

In Iceland the native's dinner usually consists of dried fish and butter. The fish is ling or cod, which, when caught, is split open and then hung on the lines by the seashore to dry in the cold winds and hot sun. When thus preserved, they will keep for years, being as hard as the nether millstone. When wanted for dinner, the fish is well hammered by a stone mallet and then cut up into strips. In this state it is eaten, but it is said that it needs an Icelander's teeth to get through the meal. The butter is not spread on the fish, but the two are taken alternately, first a mouthful of fish, then a mouthful of butter. It may easily be supposed that the Icelander is thankful to have his jaws well greased after every mouthful of the tough morsel.

Spirited His Dose.

A town that has played its part in history for more than 100 years ought to be forgiven for being a little sleepy by this time, although its new neighbors may be inclined to poke fun at it.

It is told that a Bladensburg merchant was dozing in his store one day when a little girl came in with a pitcher and asked for a quart of molasses. The merchant yawned, stretched himself, opened his eyes and then said in an injured tone:

"Well, ain't there nobody what sells molasses in Bladensburg but me?"

Words of Praise from a Banker

Mr. Chas. E. Currier of the Atlanta National Bank, is very careful with his words not only in financiering, but in his conversation generally. He attended a meeting of bankers, and writes: "I have used Tyner's Dyspepsia Remedy in attacks of acute indigestion, and have always found it to give instantaneous relief. I consider it a medicine of high merit.

LADIES WILL ENTER POLITICS

Determine Upon a Plan for Aiding the Democracy.

Raleigh Post 17th.

A number of Raleigh's most prominent ladies have determined to enter actively into the presidential campaign, with the view of assisting the Democratic party and helping it to success. The assistance will be given in the way of aiding in the distribution of campaign literature by raising money for that purpose.

A meeting was held yesterday to determine upon the most feasible plan. The ladies present at the meeting were Mrs. Armistead Jones, Mrs. F. M. Furman, Mrs James E. Shepherd, Mrs T. B. Womack (treasurer), Mrs. John W. Thompson, Mrs. N. B. Broughton, Mrs. A. M. Powell, Mrs James H. Pou and Mrs. Josephus Daniels.

It was decided that the endless chain letter system will be used, and each lady will begin a chain with a stated number of letters to friends, who will be expected to continue the work.

The letters will ask for a contribution of twenty-five cents from each of the recipients of letters, requesting that the amount be forward to the treasurer, Mrs. T. B. Womack.

Each person who receives a letter will be expected to make a certain number of copies and in turn forward them to friends.

There is little, if any, doubt of the success of the plan. If the ladies succeed as well in this laudable enterprise as they have done in every other plan undertaken the literature will be well circulated.

Praise of Normal Butter.

National Provisioner.

"There is one college in this country and only one," said William Robinson, buyer for a North Carolina house, "where butter is made and sent out duly certified the same as a graduate. The State Normal and Industrial College, located at Greensboro, in our State, is fortunate in having a large and fertile farm attached to it. This farm is now used for dairy purposes, it being stocked with a fine herd of Jersey cows. The girl students are required to milk these cows and convert the milk into butter. The girls, as a rule, take a great deal of interest in this novel branch of their studies, and it is not an unpleasing sight to see forty or fifty pretty milkmaids going out in a body to milk the cows. The girls have reached a high state of perfection in the science of buttermaking, and the butter is much sought after by the fastidious in Greensboro and vicinity. Every pound bears the college stamp, and so excellent is the quality that the demand has got beyond the capacity of the dairy farm to meet it."

Latest Republican Scheme.

Republican leaders in congress perceive that the sense of their own power has led the party into trouble and that a strong curb must be placed upon it until after election. One of the plans of the McKinley managers for the campaign is said to be the promotion of visiting delegations, to which the president may deliver addresses to offset those made by Bryan.

The engineer misunderstood the signals and there was a frightful railroad collision, with terrible loss of life. The whole country was appalled by that accident.

There is doubtless a far greater loss of life occurring every day, in various sections of the country, for which the only excuse is,—"the doctor didn't understand the symptoms." These cases are not the subjects of special inquest or the country would be aghast at the sacrifice of life to ignorance.

It has been the experience of Dr. R. V. Pierce and his staff of assistant physicians, that ninety-eight out of every hundred persons submitting to their treatment can be cured. People given up by the local physicians, weak, emaciated, with stubborn coughs and bleeding lungs have been absolutely cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Sick people are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All letters are held as strictly private and treated as sacredly confidential. Answers are mailed in plain envelopes without any printing on them.

"Last spring I was taken with severe pains in my chest, and was so weak I could hardly walk about the house," says Mrs. G. E. Kerr, of Fort Dodge, Webster Co., Iowa. "I tried several physicians and they told me I had consumption. I heard of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and I thought I would try some of it. Before I had taken the first bottle I was very much better; I took five bottles of it and have not yet had any return of the trouble."

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMEN WHO WORK.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 12.

Though only 19 years old, I suffered from pains and female troubles two years. Last spring I got so bad I had to quit work. I had to support myself, and could not afford a high-priced doctor. I got one bottle of Wine of Cardui and that made me feel better. Have now used several bottles and am well. My mother used the Wine for Change of Life and was greatly relieved.

MISS MARGARET WALSH.

McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui

Many girls and women find it necessary to earn their own living in various kinds of employment. Their work is often so hard and confining that the health breaks down. Their delicate constitutions are unfitted for tiresome tasks. Weakness nearly always makes its appearance in the peculiarly delicate womanly organs. Constant standing on the feet, and coming and going at the beck of a superintendent or foreman, induces falling of the womb, leucorrhœa, headache and backache. The pay of women workers is often so notoriously small that when sickness comes they have no money to engage skillful physicians. To them Wine of Cardui is truly a blessing. It cures them of their ills at a small cost, and they can act as their own physicians. No doctor can do as much for "female troubles" as Wine of Cardui.

After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all throat, chest and lung diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. SCROFULA AND ITS AWFUL HORRORS
—CURED BY—
Johnston's Sarsaparilla
QUART BOTTLES.
A MOST WONDERFUL CURE.

A Grand Old Lady Gives Her Experience.

Mrs. Thankful Orilla Hurd lives in the beautiful village of Brighton, Livingston Co., Mich. This venerable and highly respected lady was born in the year 1812, the year of the great war, in Hebron, Washington Co., New York. She came to Michigan in 1840, the year of "Tippecanoe and Tyler too." All her faculties are excellently preserved, and possessing a very retentive memory, her mind is full of interesting reminiscences of her early life, of the early days of the State of Michigan and the interesting and remarkable people she has met, and the stirring events of which she was a witness. But nothing in her varied and manifold recollections are more marvelous and worthy of attention than are her experiences in the use of JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA. Mrs. Hurd inherited a tendency and predisposition to scrofula, that terribly destructive blood taint which has cursed and is cursing the lives of thousands and marking thousands more as victims of the death angel. Transmitted from generation to generation, it is found in nearly every family in one form or another. It may make its appearance in dreadful running sores, in unsightly swellings in the neck or goitre, or in eruptions of varied forms. Attacking the mucous membrane, it may be known as catarrh in the head, or developing in the lungs it may be, and often is, the prime cause of consumption.

Speaking of her case, Mrs. Hurd says: "I was troubled for many years with a bad skin disease. My arms and limbs would break out in a mass of sores, discharging yellow matter. My neck began to swell and became very unsightly in appearance. My body was covered with scrofulous eruptions. My eyes were also greatly inflamed and weakened, and they pained me very much. My blood was in a very bad condition and my head ached severely at frequent intervals, and I had no appetite. I had sores also in my ears. I was in a miserable condition, I had tried every remedy that had been recommended, and doctor after doctor had failed. One of the best physicians in the state told me I must die of scrofulous consumption, as internal abcesses were beginning to form. I at length was told of Dr. Johnston, of Detroit, and his famous Sarsaparilla. I tried a bottle, more as an experiment than anything else, as I had no faith in it, and greatly to my agreeable surprise, I began to grow better. You can be sure I kept on taking it. I took a great many bottles. But I steadily improved until I became entirely well. All the sores healed up, all the bad symptoms disappeared. I gained perfect health, and I have never been troubled with scrofula since. Of course an old lady of 83 years is not a young woman, but I have had remarkably good health since then, and I firmly believe that JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA is the greatest blood purifier and the best medicine in the wide world, both for scrofula and as a spring medicine." This remarkably interesting old lady did not lok to be more than sixty, and she repeated several times, "I believe my life was saved by JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA."

No Two Thumbs Alike.

It is not alone on questions of handwriting that handwriting experts are called upon to testify. Thumb impressions, around which Mark Twain in "Puddin'head Wilson" built his ingenious story, have sometimes formed the basis of very convincing testimony. Conan Doyle said that Carvalho's deductions in the case of the robbery of $25,000 from a package of the American Express company, for nicety of reasoning and extraordinary coincidence, eclipsed anything any one ever dared put into fiction.

In 1894 Asa Guy Gurney was tried on the charge of stealing a large sum of money from the express company. It was proved that Gurney had opened the safe where the package had been placed, taken it out and deposited it in another safe. It was found that a large sum was missing.

The evidence was purely circumstantial. The envelope containing the money bore upon it, however, a thumb impression. Mr. Carvalho testified that the impression on the envelope and several impressions of Gurney's thumb corresponded exactly and contended that there were no two thumbs in the world alike. But such evidence was too subtle for the rural jury which tried the case, and the prisoner was acquitted.

It is to be recorded as a tribute to the accuracy of Carvalho's testimony that Gurney soon after confessed.—Chambers' Journal.

Severe Punishment.

Sterling is derived from the name by which the dwellers in eastern Germany were known in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries. They were called Easterlings. The purity not only of their money was very famous, but that of their silver specially so, and coiners and silversmiths were fetched from those parts to improve the quality of our own manufactures.

So far back as 1597 two counterfeiters, who sold spurious silver articles bearing a simulated royal lion and the goldsmiths' marks, were sentenced to stand in a pillory at Westminster, with their ears nailed thereto and with papers above their heads setting forth the nature of the offense for which they were so disgraced. After this degradation they were publicly marched to Cheapside, put in the pillory there, and had each one ear cut off, finally being conducted back to the Fleet prison and having to pay a fine of 10 marks each.

It seems that in recent times the record price for Elizabethan silver was £70 10s. per ounce. For old articles in this metal the sum usually obtainable ranges from £5 to £17 per ounce, according to the artistic workmanship displayed on them.—London Telegraph.

Only Two Loads.

"At the close of the war," said a southern representative today, "a great many negroes in the south refused to leave their old homes. My father gathered his former slaves about him and told them they were free and must leave him. Some went and others remained. Among the latter was an old darky named Eph, who swore he would not leave, but would stay and take his chances. 'All right, Eph,' said my father. 'Just take four or five acres and go in on the three and four plan.'

"'An what am dat, massa, fo' de Lawd's sake?'

"'Why, if you raise three loads of corn you must give me one and you keep two.' So Uncle Eph went to work and raised a crop. At harvest time my father rode over the farm and noticed that Eph had cut his corn. Seeing the old fellow, he rode up and asked him why he didn't do as he had agreed about dividing the corn.

"'Well, massa, yoh said if I raised free loads of corn I wuz to gib yoh one an take two loads myself, an I done only raised two loads.'"—Washington Times.

Jerrold's Wit.

The English have been accused for so long of dullness in their humor that several stories related of the eminent wit Douglas Jerrold may not be out of place as showing that the charge is sometimes untrue. It appears that at a dinner one gentleman who had been eating a dish of sheep's head with great gusto exclaimed as he laid down his knife and fork, "Sheep's head forever, say I!" "There's egotism," said Jerrold.

Sometimes, through a joke, Jerrold conveyed good advice or a word of warning. He was enjoying a drive one day with a jovial spendthrift behind a pair of grays. "Well, what do you think of my grays?" asked his impecunious friend. "To tell you the truth," replied Jerrold, "I was thinking more of your duns."

Quick at a Hint.

Mr. Slyman, the bookkeeper, received a present of $10 from his employer. He expected more and was greatly disappointed. He dropped the money on the floor in the presence of his employer, as if accidentally, and stooped to pick it up.

"Did you find it all?" asked his employer after a few minutes.

"No; I found only $10!"—Fliegende Blatter.

Causes of Loss of Hair

Dr. Sabouraud, the eminent French Dermatologist, says that 98 per cent of hair losses are the results of microbes and the neglect of dandruff. The antiseptic action of

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS.

Fool the Bees and the People.

"People buy comb honey," said a man from the country, "believing that the fact that it is sealed by the honest little bee precludes the possibility of fraud. The fact is that the bees of many professional 'honey' raisers do nothing the livelong summer but pack glucose into their hives from an open barrel that is left standing close by. The bee will not search fragrant flowers the livelong day for a trifling amount of pure honey when he can get glucose. The honey men see that there is plenty of glucose handy, and instead of one pound of pure honey they aid the bees in putting ten pounds of glucose on the market.

"Human ingenuity has not devised a way for making and sealing the honeycomb, or the bee would be dispensed with altogether. In handling the glucose the bees give it a honeyish flavor, and if you complain to the bee man that it is not as sweet and sticky as it should be he will tell you that it is the early crop and that the heavy rains make it thin.

"I know a man who keeps 50 hives of bees on the roof of his store in the city, and by hustling up plenty of glucose he gets enough 'honey' out of the buzzing slaves to do a wholesale business in honey. Why, his bees never saw a flower and would shy at a honeysuckle if they happened to come near one. He will not even let the poor things have a recess to get a drink of water, but keeps a pan of fresh water near the hives for them to drink."—New York Mail and Express.

An Immortal Oration.

The funeral oration of Pericles is pretty nearly what was actually spoken, or else it is the substance of the speech written out in the historian's own words, says James Ford Rhodes in The Atlantic. Its intensity of feeling and the fitting of it so well into the situation indicate it to be a living contemporaneous document, and at the same time it has that universal application which we note in so many speeches of Shakespeare.

A few years after our civil war a lawyer in a city of the middle west who had been selected to deliver the Memorial day oration came to a friend of his in despair because he could write nothing but the commonplaces about those who had died for the Union and for the freedom of a race which had been uttered many times before, and he asked for advice.

"Take the funeral oration of Pericles for a model," was the reply. "Use his words where they will fit and dress up the rest to suit our day."

The orator was surprised to find how much of the oration could be used bodily and how much, with adaptation, was germane to his subject.

Averted the Storm.

A certain congressman went home at a very early hour in the morning. He had made a night of it with some friends. He knew that his conduct would be considered reprehensible by his better half, and so, as he ascended the steps of his modest home, he racked his brain for some plan to avert the lady's wrath. As he entered the hall he saw an umbrella. Instantly it occurred to him that the umbrella might be his salvation.

He carried the umbrella up stairs. Seating himself on a chair in the corner of the bedroom, he raised the rain guard over his head, and then he coughed loudly. His wife awoke and saw in the dim gaslight her liege lord sitting solemnly under the raised umbrella.

"What are you doing?" she asked in natural surprise.

"It is 3 o'clock, my dear," said he, "and I am waiting for the storm."

The congressman's ready wit saved him from a Caudle lecture. He is worrying now, however, to find an equally effective act for the next time he stays out late.—Washington Post.

Force of Habit.

In 1827, just after Dan Dougherty, the Irish pugilist, fought his famous fight with Jem Belcher, the English fighter, on the curragh of Kildare, near Dublin, he became involved in a controversy with an unknown. The latter was not a pugilist, and, not wishing to take any advantage of his opponent, Dougherty consented to fight him with pistols. The two met by appointment, but their seconds, unknown to them, extracted the balls from the pistols and substituted blank cartridges. By the terms of the agreement between the principals Dougherty's opponent was to have the first shot. The natural instinct prevailed even on the dueling ground, and as the fighter's opponent raised his arm to fire Dougherty elevated his right arm, as if to ward off a blow, evidently intending to stop the bullet from hitting him in the face. After this who can say that fighters are not dead game men?—Kansas City Independent.

Average Time of a Wink.

"In a twinkling of an eye" is a phrase for brevity, but M. Garten in "The Archives de Pfluger" has found the average time of a wing to be about .40 of a second. The eyelid descends in about .80 of a second, stays down about .13 of a second to .17 of a second and rises again in about .17 of a second. Winking varies much in different persons and rarely occurs when the attention is concentrated, but this omission is followed by a series of winks to make up, either by resting the eye or cleaning it.

Wisdom of the West.

"We find," said the foreman of the western jury, "that if, as the prisoner says, the shootin was accidental, then he ought to hang, fer in these gun affairs a man oughter know his own mind. It oughter be shoot to kill or no shoot. A man who has accidents happen to him with a gun is dangerous to our society an oughter be put out of the way fer the safety of respectable folks."—Philadelphia North American.

PREVENTED A TRAGEDY.

Timely information given Mrs. George Long, of New Straitsville, O., prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had kept her awake every night. She tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of the matchless merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at C. E. Mrs. W. W. Holden dead.

News and Observer.

Mrs. Louisa Virginia Holden, widow of the late Governor William W. Holden, died suddenly of heart failure yesterday morning about 10 o'clock at her residence in this city, corner of Hargett and McDowell streets. Mrs. Holden arose in her usual health, and the end came suddenly, without warning. Her husband, Governor Holden, died in March, 1892.

Mrs. Holden was a native of this city, a sister of the late Mayor Harrison, and a daughter of the late Robert and Mary Harrison. She was 69 years 4 months and 7 days old. She leaves four children—Mrs. C. A. Sherwood, Mrs. Walter R. Henry, of Charlotte; C. C. Holden, of Baltimore, and Miss Louisa T. Holden. Mrs. Holden was a noble Christian woman. She was of a retiring disposition, but a woman of wonderful will power and strength of character. She posessed a sweet disposition that made her much beloved by all who knew her.

A THOUSAND TONGUES.

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard st., Philadelphi, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"It soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. Kings' New Discovery for any trouble of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c. and $1. An Editor's Life Saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remdy.

During the early part of October, 1896, I contracted a bad cold, which settled on my lungs and was neglected until I feared that consumption had appeared in an incipient state. I was constantly coughing and trying to expel something which I could not. I became alarmed and after giving the local doctor a trial bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the result was immediate improvement, and after I had used three bottles my lungs were restored to their healthy state.—B. Eczema! The Only Cure.

Eczema is more than a skin disease, and no skin remedies can cure it. The doctors are unable to effect a cure, and their mineral mixtures are damaging to the most powerful constitution. The whole trouble is in the blood, and Swift's Specific is the only remedy which can reach such deep-seated blood diseases.

Eczema broke out on my daughter, and continued to spread until her head was entirely covered. She was treated by several good doctors, but grew worse, and the dreadful disease spread to her face. She was taken to two celebrated health springs, but received no benefit. Many patent medicines were taken, but without result, until we decided to try S. S. S., and by the time the first bottle was finished, her head began to heal. A dozen bottles cured her completely and left her skin perfectly smooth. She is now sixteen years old, and has a magnificent growth of hair. Not a sign of the dreadful disease has ever returned.

HIS LIFE WAS SAVED.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with typhoid fever that ran into pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even sit up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it and now am well and strong. I can't say too much in its praise." This marvellous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all throat and lung trouble. Regular sizes 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at C. E. Mr. W. A. Hines, of Manchester, Iowa, writing of his almost miraculous escape from death says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even it cost $5 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure throat, chest and lung troubles." Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. THE MACHINERY HUMMING.

Factory of Southern Bobbin Works, in This City, Starts Up.

It was noted in these columns some weeks ago that the Southern Bobbin Works had been incorporated and organized in this city for the manufacture of bobbins, picker sticks, skewers, lease rods and loom levers. Since that time the projectors of the enterprise have been busy getting ready to begin work.

It is the pleasure of this paper today to announce that the machinery has been set to humming. A reporter called at the factory yesterday afternoon and was shown over the busy place by Mr. S. H. Boyd, the secretary and treasurer. The wood used is maple and hickory, native to our forests and found in abundance. Twenty odd car loads of these woods is now on the yard, ready to be cut and shaped into the articles named above, for use in cotton milling. The logs, in short lengths, are first cut up into dimension stock by a very simple machine, a picture of which is presented herewith. This is the same machine which was described at some length in the Telegram several months ago, when it was first introduced in this section by Mr O. C. Wysong, representative of the Fay & Egan Co., and which has since become very popular. By the way, of the twenty-nine different woodworking machines already installed at the Southern Bobbin Works, a majority were put in by Mr. Wysong's house.

The logs are cut up green, right from the forests and then carried through a process of drying and run through various kinds of machinery until, in thirty to forty days from the time the green log is cut, the finished product is turned out, thoroughly seasoned and beautifully made.

There are three steam dry houses, with a capacity for drying 75,000 bobbins at once, besides the space fitted and reserved for the other products of the factory, skewers, picker sticks, etc

Mr. J. C. Marsh, for about ten years with the furniture factory at Ramseur, is the superintendent, and a most efficient one he is. The Southern Bobbin Works starts well and is not experimenting. Their first order is now being filled, and there is a ready market for the entire output of the factory.

Again we may be permitted to observe that these are the kinds of enterprises that build towns and hold them together after they are built. The above concern works over twenty men. Twenty others along the same line would mean much. It would mean over four hundred well paid men, to say nothing of anything else, and those men would contribute quite an item to the city's business. Let us have more manufactories of various kinds.

BOUGHT FLORIDA TIMBER LAND.

NEW CONCERN—BROOKS & DAVIDSON LUMBER COMPANY.

Authorized Capital $500,000—Application Made For Charter—Lumber and Naval Stores.

Outside of those figuring in the deal there was only a surmise as to the object of the trip of Mr. R. W. Brooks, of this city, and Mr. J. A. Davidson, of Gibsonville, to Florida last week. They spent several days in and around Tallahassee, and the result is the purchase of 25,000 acres of fine Florida timber lands, and the organization of the Brooks & Davidson Lumber Company, with an authorized capital of about $500,000. Application for a charter was made late today before Clerk of Superior Court Nelson, and will be forwarded to the secretary of state tonight.

The charter asked for is a broad one, and gives the company the right to do business anywhere in the southern states, and to conduct a general lumber and naval stores business. Saw mills will be put in the Florida forests and the fine virgin pine turned into lumber to assist in supplying the constantly increasing demand for first class pine building material.

This is a big enterprise; but it is a scheme of level headed and successful business men, and in this undertaking only success is predicted for them. The incorporators are Messrs. R. W. Brooks, J. A. Davidson, J. M. Walker, R. H Brooks, Lee H. Battle, and others. As soon as the charter is received complete organization will be effected and officers elected.

The headquarters of this concern will be in Greensboro.

Dr. Smith Declined.

It was stated in the Telegram Monday that Rev. Dr. E. W. Smith had been approached by the officers of the Second church of Richmond, Va., to ascertain if he would accept a call to the pastorate of that church, the one so long filled by the late Dr. Hoge. When approached to know if he would accept a call Dr. Smith promptly declined to consider the question at all, stating that he would not leave Greensboro.

Special Treatment.

Dr. J. E. Brooks has in his office a compressed air apparatus for the treatment of throat, bronchial and lung diseases which is the most modern and up-to-date thing we have yet seen. Common sense would dictate that this is the most scientific method of reaching and treating these diseases. Dr. Brooks has studied these diseases under a specialist, and will now give special attention to their treatment along with his other practice.

His physicians say he may recover, but will not be able to speak with any confidence for several days. Dr. McGuire has been in bad shape physically for some two years.

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity.

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

And ours is the place to get the stuff.
